OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

Re: Ex Parte Filing of the Association of Directory Publishers ("ADP")
CC Docket No. 96-115

Dear Ms. Salas:

The attached materials are being filed as an ex parte submission in the above referenced-docket in order to convey to the Commission a clearer sense of the difficulties faced by independent directory publishers attempting to obtain subscriber list information ("SLI") for subscribers of competitive local exchange carriers ("CLECs"). As detailed in earlier submissions in this docket,¹ incumbent local exchange carriers ("ILECs") obtain CLECs' SLI as a condition of interconnecting with the CLECs. However, some ILECs (particularly BellSouth and Southwestern Bell) refuse to provide CLEC listings to independent directory publishers, despite providing these listings to their own directory-publishing affiliates and despite the CLECs' desire that the ILECs provide such data to independent directory publishers. As described in the attached narrative, ILEC refusal to provide CLEC listings to independent publishers prevents these publishers from producing accurate, up-to-date, and timely directories.

The attached narrative and accompanying exhibits detail the extraordinary efforts made by White Directory Publishers, Inc. ("White"), an independent directory publisher and ADP member, to obtain CLEC listings in order to publish an accurate and up-to-date directory for the Columbia, South Carolina area. In order to provide relief to independent directory publishers such as White, the Commission must require ILECs that collect listings from CLECs to provide such listings to independent directory publishers under nondiscriminatory and reasonable terms and conditions. As detailed in the ex parte filings of ADP and the Association for Local Telecommunications Services ("ALTS") in this proceeding, the Commission possesses ample authority to require ILECs to provide independent directory publishers with CLECs' SLI.

In accordance with the Commission's rules, two (2) copies of this letter are being filed. Should you have any questions regarding this filing, please do not hesitate to contact the undersigned at (202) 429-4730.

Sincerely,

Sophie J. Keefer

WHITE DIRECTORY PUBLISHERS, INC.

White Directory Publishers, Inc. ("White") is an independent telephone book publisher in several states, including South Carolina. The purpose of this narrative is to describe the extraordinary efforts made by White to publish a complete, accurate and timely white page section for its Columbia, South Carolina directory.

- These efforts were made necessary by BellSouth's refusal to pass on CLEC information obtained by it from the CLECs as a condition of interconnection to independent directory publishers.
- Worse, BellSouth uses the fact that independent directory publishers such as White can not reasonably obtain CLEC SLI as part of its sales material to discredit White and other independent directory publishers. See Exhibits 1 & 2.

This narrative demonstrates that the FCC must make clear to all ILECs that collect listings from CLECs that Section 222(e) requires them to provide such listings on reasonable and nondiscriminatory terms and conditions to independent directory publishers in order to ensure a level playing field for independent directory publishers.

White's first challenge was to identify all the potential CLECs that might have subscriber listings required for insertion into the Columbia directory.

- First, White asked BellSouth for information about the CLECs but BellSouth would not identify any of the CLECs serving subscribers in Columbia.
- White then attempted to identify these CLECs itself. White first searched the Internet web site of the South Carolina Public Service Commission ("PSC"). White was able to secure a list of CLECs that had certificates to do business in the state. See Exhibit 3. The list was last updated in September of 1998; therefore, in January of 1999, White could not depend on the list posted on the Internet. In order to obtain the most current list of CLECs operating in South Carolina, White needed a more up-to-date list.
- Next, White called the PSC directly. After several days, White was able to obtain a list of CLECs current through January of 1999. See Exhibit 4. The document listed 79 companies that held certificates to provide local services in the state. Since all local service providers need to be registered with the PSC, White assumed that the list of companies provided by the PSC was complete.
- White then proceeded to call each of the 79 companies to determine if it was offering local services and had subscribers in Columbia. In making these contacts, White discovered that it would be impossible to get current, accurate and timely subscriber listings from the CLECs directly.

Below is a list of the problems that White encountered in attempting to obtain CLEC listings:

- Many CLECs were unfamiliar with Section 222(e) and were unwilling to release their data to White. Where White encountered such CLECs, lengthy negotiations were required in order to obtain listings, sometimes including attorneys for both sides. As a result, White was unable to meet its print schedule for its Columbia directory.
- Many CLECs were unreachable by telephone or did not return telephone messages, faxes, and letters. White was unable to contact and therefore unable to determine whether these CLECs had subscriber listings needed for its Columbia directory.
- CLECs often referred White to BellSouth directly to obtain their SLI; however, BellSouth would not release the CLECs' SLI directly to White. The statement used most often by the CLECs was "We just bill the customers. When they need to change their listings we refer them to BellSouth."
- CLECs often do not have all data necessary to create a white pages listing for their subscribers. Many CLECs provided customer lists, not SLI to White. White was unable to use the customer lists because they did not indicate how the customer wanted to be represented in the white pages. BellSouth sets up the listings for the CLEC to be inserted into the BellSouth book. The CLEC typically does not have any of these data. Therefore, it is impossible to determine how the customer is to be listed without BellSouth's input. An example of this is an attorney group. CLECs can give White the name and phone number of the attorney group, but not the names and numbers of the individual attorneys that need to be listed and associated with the group.
- Many CLECs provided SLI for the entire state, not the specific areas required by White. Consequently, White was forced to manually eliminate all listings not appropriate for the Columbia directory. Moreover, White was forced to pay for the unnecessary listings. This practice is inconsistent with the requirement of Section 222(e) that SLI be provided on an "unbundled" basis.
- Requesting CLECs to obtain their listings from the ILECs and then forward them to the publisher is inefficient. One CLEC, TTE/Knology, was successful in obtaining SLI from BellSouth. The cost to get the SLI was $750.00 and contained approximately 75 listings, i.e., a cost of $10.00 per listing. Had White been permitted to request these listings directly from BellSouth, BellSouth would have charged $0.04 per listing.

- CLECs often do not possess all the necessary information to request a complete set of the CLECs' SLI from BellSouth. BellSouth has programmed codes for each individual CLEC in their white pages database. It is possible that a CLEC may have several codes, possibly unknown by the CLEC. For example, White understands that two CLECs, Knology and TTE, merged to become one company, TTE/Knology. White believes that when TTE/Knology requested its listings from BellSouth, BellSouth did not forward TTE's listings because only Knology's code was submitted. Independent directory publishers do not have access to these codes; only BellSouth does. Thus, even if willing to do so, a CLEC may not be able to request a complete set of its SLI from BellSouth.
- Some CLECs stated that they had no customers in the Columbia area or were currently not providing service; in some cases, these statements were untrue. For example, E.Spire Communications ("E.Spire") stated that it had no subscribers in Columbia. When the new BellSouth book was released in January of 1999, White compared its white pages file to the listings contained in the new BellSouth book and found many discrepancies. There were many listings in the BellSouth white pages that White did not have in its white pages file. White called these subscribers and asked who provided their local service. E.Spire was named several times. In addition, OmniCall International ("OmniCall") stated that it had no subscribers in Columbia in response to White's request for listings. However, when White called OmniCall to get listings for another book White publishes in Florida, OmniCall asked if White also needed approximately 250-330 listings for Columbia. These listings would not have appeared in White's book (had White been able to meet its publication deadline), yet appeared in BellSouth's book..
- Some CLEC customers appeared on both the CLEC's subscriber list and BellSouth's. For example, White manually entered data received from one CLEC into its white pages database. While entering the data, White found that approximately 30% of the customers were also in the data previously provided by BellSouth regarding its own subscribers. Thus, it is not clear to White whose customers these subscribers are and which listed telephone numbers are correct.
- CLEC customer lists included listings that were not intended to be published in the white pages. For example, one CLEC provided phone numbers that (unknown to White) its subscribers had requested remain unpublished. White manually entered the data into its white page database. After entering several thousand listings and preparing the pages to be printed, White was informed by the CLEC that several hundred listings must be removed because the CLEC had sent non-published listings to White. White had to scrap several hundred finished pages and restart the lengthy and expensive process of preparing the listings for printing.
- Some CLECs with subscribers in Columbia were not on the list provided by the PSC. Some subscribers who appear in the new BellSouth book for the Columbia area are served by CLECs that were not on the original list provided to White by the PSC. Thus, these listings, appearing in BellSouth's book, would not have appeared in White's book had White been able to meet its publication deadline. See Exhibit 5.

- Timing of CLEC contacts. The timing of CLEC contacts is another enormous obstacle. White needs to contact all potential CLECs as close to its publication date as possible to ensure the accuracy and currency of its directory. Because of the problems outlined above, this process is labor intensive and prone to delay as many CLECs resist providing listings, do not respond to White's requests for listings, or provide inaccurate listings. However, White can not begin this process early because current CLECs add subscribers and the number of new CLECs grows exponentially every day. Thus, White is caught in a Catch-22.

The following documentation is attached:

1. BellSouth directory cover promoting the fact that BellSouth has listings for all local telecommunications companies.
2. Sales material used by BellSouth representatives asking customers to question independent publishers' ability to obtain CLEC listings.
3. List of companies from the Internet web site of the South Carolina PSC.
4. List of companies sent to White directly from the PSC.
5. Pages from the new BellSouth book, containing subscriber listings that White was unable to obtain.

Questions to ask the "The Talking Phone Book"

1. What benefit is there to having two telephone directories serving the same market area?
2. Will I save money by advertising in two directories?
3. Can you furnish names and contact numbers of any customers who kept the same programs in both books and experienced a reduction in advertising costs?
4. How much will the ads cost when they reach full price?
5. If "The Talking Phone Book" doesn't make their sales objective, will they still publish a book?
6. When a new resident or business moves into Brevard, and installs a phone, how long before they receive a book?
7. How long do I have, after I sign up, to cancel my ad if I change my mind?
8. How are you obtaining listing information of new people moving into the area?
9. How do you get this information from other telephone companies providing local service?
